Always the War.

More money will be going up in smoke after the first of the year than ever before. The price of cigars already has been advanced and after the first of the year there will be fewer cigars in the package, while a slice will be taken off your plug tobacco before you begin to chew it or smoke it. The darned old war again, of course!

The Acid Test.

In delivering the annual address to the senior class of Farmington college, Bishop McCoy said: "What I consider honesty in a man—an undisputed desire for the truth, regardless of its consequences—is for a man to walk to the tax assessor's office and tell the flat-footed truth about the value of his property. This is a time, in my opinion, when men are tried and when they either tell the truth boldly or lie plain out."

Human Unrest.

"I suppose you are satisfied with the result of the election?" "Yes," replied Farmer Cornstossel; "I'm satisfied now."

"Would it be possible for you to change your mind?" "Undoubtedly. I may change it several times. You can't expect a man to be satisfied with the same folks and the same ideas uninterruptedly for four long years."

He Had Too Much.

Henry M. Dixey attended an aristocratic Thanksgiving ball in Rittenhouse square, Philadelphia. When supper was being served he happened to be standing behind the supper table, with a dozen waiters busy around him. Soon a mild-mannered old man approached the actor, glass in hand.

"Would you mind filling my glass with champagne?" he queried. Dixey started, drew himself up, and said with a look of reproval, "I certainly would mind, my dear sir. You have already had more than is good for you."

WINTER CARE OF EWE FLOCK

Of Great Importance in Insuring Lamb Crop in Spring—Feed Clover or Alfalfa Hay.

The winter care of the flock is important to insure a lamb crop to be harvested in the spring. Ewes in good condition need not be fed grain until about a month before lambing, when they should gradually be accustomed to it. Ewes in thin or poor condition should receive from one-fourth to one-half pound of grain daily. Corn alone is not the best grain ration. A ration of six parts corn, three parts wheat bran, and one part linseed oil cake, by weight, has proved very satisfactory. A ration of corn, oats, and bran, equal parts by weight, can also be recommended.

The sheep should receive as much clover or alfalfa hay as they will eat.

Sheep in Winter Quarters.

The amount of hay eaten can be cut down by the use of corn silage or corn stover. Two pounds of clean, sweet corn silage can be used to replace about one pound of hay. Well cured corn stover is also relished by the ewes. Ordinarily, there is little danger of the sheep eating too much of it, if the hay is fed once a day. The greatest danger of corn stover comes from making it the exclusive feed. Clean salt and water should be kept before the flock. Sheep should always have a dry, well bedded floor to lie on.—Ohio State Bulletin.

FEEDING SWINE OR VERMIN?

Coal-Tar Solution as Dip or Spray is Recommended for Treatment—Some Other Remedies.

It has been estimated that a 150-pound hog has 92,000 drops of blood. If the hog is suffering from lice and each louse takes one drop of blood per day, what per cent of the hog's blood will be lost daily, and who will pay the bill?

Using a coal-tar solution (1 per cent) as a dip or a spray, is recommended for treatment, but there are other mixtures equally effective. These are: 1, equal parts kerosene and machine oil mixed together and applied with an oil can, brush or swab; 2, crude oil (thinned with kerosene if too thick) applied with a brush or as a spray. Crude oil applied to the backs of the hogs slowly works over the greater part of the hog's body, but should be applied to the ears and both flanks.

CORN AND LIVE STOCK FARM

Former Produces More Feed Per Acre Than Any Other Crop for Cattle Except Alfalfa.

Corn and live stock farming go hand in hand. The great corn-growing sections are also the great live stock sections. Corn produces more feed per acre than any other crop except alfalfa. It should be fed with alfalfa as these two feeds make a balanced ration.

Stock relish corn and corn fodder whether cured in the field or in the silo. This grain is unequaled in beef and pork production. The meat produced from it is of a firm consistency.

SCIENCE IN FEEDING CATTLE

Farmer Who Sells Half-Grown Feeders for Someone Else to "Finish" is Losing Money.

The cattleman who fattens his animals "from birth to block" has a much better chance of satisfactory returns than he who sells half-grown feeders for someone else to "finish" for marketing.

The latter turns over to the stockyard men, to feeders and the railroads a very large share of the profits which might have been his.

Bran Good for Sheep.

Wheat bran is fine for a change of diet with sheep. Makes the bowels regular and gives growth to the coming lambs.

Big Losses From Disease.

Diseases of animals cause losses of $212,000,000 a year in the United States. Much of this loss is preventable.

Laying Hens in Prime.

MORE WHEAT, MORE CATTLE, MORE HOGS

Land Values Sure to Advance Because of Increasing Demand for Farm Products.

The cry from countries abroad for more of the necessities of life is acute today; tomorrow it will be still more insistent, and there will be no letup after the war. This is the day for the farmer, the day that he is coming into his own. He is gradually becoming the dictator as it becomes more apparent that upon his industry depends the great problem of feeding a great world. The farmer of Canada and the United States has it within himself to hold the position that stress of circumstances has lifted him into today. The conditions abroad are such that the utmost dependence will rest upon the farmers of this continent for some time after the war, and for this reason there is no hesitation in making the statement that war's demands are, and for a long time will be, inexhaustible, and the claims that will be made upon the soil will with difficulty be met. There are today 25,000,000 men in the fighting ranks in the old world. The best of authority gives 75 per cent and over as having been drawn from the farms. There is therefore nearly 75 per cent of the land formerly filled now being uncultivated. Much of this land is today in a devastated condition and if the war should end tomorrow it will take years to bring it back to its former producing capacity.

Instead of the farmer producer producing, he has become a consumer, making the strain upon those who have been left to do the farming a very difficult one. There may be agitation as to the high cost of living, and doubtless there is reason for it in many cases. The middleman may boost the prices, combines may organize to elevate the cost, but one cannot get away from the fact that the demand regulates the supply, and the supply regulates the price. The price of wheat—in fact, all grains—as well as cattle, will remain high for some time, and the low prices that have prevailed will not come again for some time.

After the war the demand for cattle, not alone for beef, but for stock purposes, to replenish the exhausted herds of Europe, will be keen. Farm educators and advisers are telling you to prepare for this emergency. How much better it can be done on the low-priced lands of today, on lands that cost from ten to twenty dollars per acre, than it can on two and three hundred-dollar-acre land. The lands of Western Canada meet all the requirements. They are productive in every sense of the word. The best of grasses can be grown with abundant yields and the grain can be produced from these soils that beats the world, and the same may be said of cattle and horses. The climate is all that is required.

Those who are competent to judge claim that land prices will rise in value from twenty to fifty per cent. This is looked for in Western Canada, where lands are decidedly cheap today, and those who are fortunate enough to secure now will realize wonderfully by means of such an investment. The land that the Dominion Government is giving away as free homesteads in the provinces of Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta are of a high class; they are abundant in every constituent that goes to make the most productive soils. The yields of wheat, oats and barley that have been grown on these lands gives the best evidence of their productivity, and when backed up by the experience of the thousands of settlers from the United States who have worked them and become wealthy upon them, little more should be required to convince those who are seeking a home, even with limited means, that nowhere can they secure anything that will better equip them to become one of the army of industry to assist in taking care of the problem of feeding the world. These lands are free; but to those who desire larger holdings than 160 acres there are the railroad companies and land corporations from whom purchase can be made at reasonable prices, and information can be secured from the Canadian Government agent, whose advertisement appears elsewhere in this paper.—Advertisement.

Another Historic Repetition. "The early Greeks, you will note," remarked the professor, "went barefoot as a rule."

"That's interesting. The high price of shoes now threatening this country isn't such a new thing as we thought it was."

Quick Wit on the Stage.

Presence of mind is indispensable on the stage. Accidents may mar the finest effects or interrupt the progress of the action at its most vital point.

The elder Sothern affords an instance that verges on burlesque. In the third act climax of a play his pistol missed fire.

"Bang!" he shouted. And the villain, with equal presence of mind, fell down dead.
